

Notes on Contributors

Anthony Cummins has been Foundation Professor of Family Medicine at the RCSI (Royal College of Surgeons in Ireland) Perdana University of Medicine in Serdang since 2014. Originally from Cork, Ireland, he spent the bulk of his medical career serving in the UK NHS until his return to Ireland in 2007 to work at the RCSI. Outside of medicine, he is a musician, playing Irish and traditional Malaysian music, as well as presenting an award-winning World Music radio show on Ireland's Raidió Na Life. He began writing only this year, having completed a creative writing course in Kuala Lumpur. "Sardines" is his first short-story publication.

E-mail address: anthonycummins@perdanauniversity.edu.my

Leonard Jeyam is Senior Lecturer at the Department of English, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, Universiti Malaya. He teaches literature and creative writing and is currently researching notions of ownership and authenticity in the food histories of the Southeast Asian region. He holds a PhD in English from the University of Kent, UK.

E-mail address: leonardr@um.edu.my

Carol Leon is Associate Professor of English at Universiti Malaya, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. Her areas of research relate to postcolonialism and travel literature. She has publications, both journal articles and book chapters, in her areas of specialisation and has presented papers at national and international conferences. She is also the author of Movement and Belonging: Lines, Places, and Spaces of Travel (Peter Lang, 2009).

E-mail address: caroleon@um.edu.my

David CL Lim teaches at Open University Malaysia, Kuala Lumpur. He has contributed scholarly essays to such journals as Wasafiri, Critique: Studies in Contemporary Fiction, Journal of Postcolonial Writing, and Studies in Gender and Sexuality. He is the author of The Infinite Longing for Home: Desire and the Nation in Selected Writings of Ben Okri and KS Maniam (Rodopi, 2005) and co-editor of Film in Contemporary Southeast Asia: Cultural Interpretation and Social Intervention (Routledge, 2012).

E-mail address: david@oum.edu.my

Shalini Nadaswaran is Senior Lecturer in the Department of English, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, Universiti Malaya. She received her PhD in English from the University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia. Her doctoral study, supervised by Professor Bill Ashcroft, explored contemporary Nigerian and other African women's writings. Her research interests revolve around the evolving representations of women in local and global spaces. She also has interests in modern-day slavery, literature and injustice, and the figure of the 'child' in postcolonial literature. Her work has been published in journals such as African Literature Today, Matatu, Wasafiri, and Tulsa Studies in Women's Literature. She has also contributed book chapters to various book projects.

E-mail address: shalininadaswaran@um.edu.my

Andrew Hock Soon Ng is Associate Professor at Monash University Malaysia where he teaches literary studies. He is the author of several books, the most recent being Women and Domestic Space in Contemporary Gothic Narratives: The House as Subject (Palgrave, 2014), and has contributed articles to edited volumes on the Gothic, postmodern writing and postcolonial narratives, and peer-reviewed journals such as CLAQ, Horror Studies, and Symploke.

E-mail address: ng.hock.soon@monash.edu

Makarand R. Paranjape is Professor of English at the Centre for English Studies, School of Language, Literature and Culture Studies of Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. Among his recent book publications are: Cultural Politics in Modern India: Postcolonial Prospects, Colourful Cosmopolitanism, Global Proximities (Routledge, 2016), The Death and Afterlife of Mahatma Gandhi (Penguin Random House, 2015), and Making India: Colonialism, National Culture, and the Afterlife of Indian English Authority (Springer, 2013). Makarand was the Inaugural DAAD Global South Visiting Fellow and Erich Auerbach Visiting Professor in World Literature, University of Tuebingen (May-July 2015 and July-December 2014), Visiting Senior Research Fellow, Asia Research Institute, National University of Singapore (January-April 2015), Inaugural ICCR Chair in Indian Studies, South Asian Studies Programme, National University of Singapore (2010-2011), CAPES Visiting Professor, University of Sao Paulo, Brazil (August-December 2011), and Shivdasani Visiting Fellow, Oxford Centre for Hindu Studies, University of Oxford (October-December 2009).

E-mail address: makarand@jnu.ac.in

Agnes SK Yeow is Senior Lecturer at the Department of English, Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences, Universiti Malaya. Her areas of research interest encompass twentieth-century fiction and environmental literary criticism. She is the author of Conrad's Eastern Vision: A Vain And Floating Appearance (Palgrave Macmillan, 2006) and has also contributed scholarly essays to journals such as Conradiana, Textual Practice, The Conradian, and Kunapipi.

E-mail address: agnesyw@um.edu.my